

Mount Vernon Banner Historic Newspaper 1887

7-7-1887

Mount Vernon Democratic Banner July 7, 1887

Follow this and additional works at: <https://digital.kenyon.edu/banner1887>

Recommended Citation

"Mount Vernon Democratic Banner July 7, 1887" (1887). Mount Vernon Banner Historic Newspaper 1887. 32.
<https://digital.kenyon.edu/banner1887/32>

This Book is brought to you for free and open access by Digital Kenyon: Research, Scholarship, and Creative Exchange. It has been accepted for inclusion in Mount Vernon Banner Historic Newspaper 1887 by an authorized administrator of Digital Kenyon: Research, Scholarship, and Creative Exchange. For more information, please contact noltj@kenyon.edu.

The Banner.

No. 5 Kromlin, Monument Square

TELEPHONE CONNECTION.

MOUNT VERNON, O., JULY 7, 1887.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

The "harvest moon" never looked more beautiful than during the past week.

Three plain drinks were registered at the jail Monday night, as the result of too much exhalation on the 4th.

The 3-year-old daughter of Mr. C. F. Cleveland, fell from a fence last week, causing a fracture of the elbow joint.

The receipts on the opening night of Pinefire were $200—a very goodly sum considering the low rates of admission.

Quinlan, the cranky and murderous Philander, was escorted to the Columbus Asylum, Friday, by Sheriff Stevenson.

"Mattie Hunter," the well-known Stillman mare, won the 240 trot at the Columbus track on Monday, being owned by J. H. Rosebush.

A little son of Mr. E. Rosebush, of East High street, fell from a stone step Monday and broke his arm above the elbow.

The wool market has declined from 33 to 30 cents per pound during the past week, and local dealers predict a still further fall.

The patrol wagon was called to the corner of Front street and Blackberry alley Tuesday morning, to haul three dead-drunk bunnies to the dump.

"Dolly Day," P. Hall's famous trotting mare, owned in this city, captured the 229 trot at Columbus, Tuesday, in three straight heats. Best time, 2:30.

The iron rails which have been used on the C. & O. for the past fourteen years, are being replaced with steel rails.

The past has been a busy week for Coroner Bunn, who has had no less than thirty inquests to perform, the particulars of which appear on this page of the BANNER.

Charlie Pelton, the vicious and murderous pauper, who assaulted Infantry Superintendent Jackson, will have a hearing before Justice Barker, next Tuesday morning.

Three large iron girders, weighing 600 pounds each, to be used in constructing the bridge to connect the Curtis House and the Annex, have arrived and will be placed in position.

Drilling at well No. 1, had reached 2,500 feet last night, the depth contemplated by the contractor. Drilling was then in red rock. Efforts are being made to drill to the Clinton limestone.

The time for instituting the new uniform rank of the Knights of Pythias, has been fixed for Tuesday evening, July 26th. Visiting Sir Knights are expected from Columbus, Zanesville, and Newburg.

Many farmers brought produce to town Monday, but were unable to dispose of it, or do other trading, for the reason that the stores were closed. Many complaints were made, and not a few left for home in disgust.

The dance at the Armory Monday afternoon was a success so far as numbers go, but some of the scenes enacted and the language reported to have been used, are anything but creditable to the managers of the affair.

The 5-year-old son of Squire Dalrymple was killed in the forehead by a horse Tuesday afternoon, lying on the sidewalk, at the distance of 3 or 4 inches. Fortunately the skull was not fractured. Dr. Russell was called to dress the wound.

The Cincinnati Enquirer publishes a list of the banks who did business in the defunct Fidelity bank, of that city. Among the number are the First and Knox National and the Savings Bank of this city, and the Bank at Centerville.

Several accidents occurred to the small boys, while shooting fire-crackers on the 4th, mostly cases of eyes being hurt and faces powder burnt. Johnny Torrey, messenger of the B. & O., had his left eye injured by the premature explosion of a large squib.

Brooke L. Terry, formerly of this city, who has been in U. S. mail service for twenty-four years, has been relieved from duty as superintendent of mail routes, at New York, Mr. Terry was a clever and capable man, but as stiff-necked a Republican partisan as they make them.

Last Saturday evening, John Carter, a somewhat demented inmate of the County Jail, was struck by a train going east at the crossing of the C. & A. C. and the B. & O., but not seriously injured. At the time of the accident he was sitting on the side of a cross-tie and did not seem to realize the danger of his position.

The Curtis House is to undergo repairs and complete interior transformation. While the work is in progress, which will take about four weeks, the proprietor, Mr. Decker, has consented to let the hotel to the general public, but will run a "family table" for the benefit of lodgers.

John A. Prickett, a highly respected citizen of Richfield, Summit county, took a very serious cold, and died, after a short time. The death of his wife made him melancholy and caused him to do the rash act. Before taking the poison he called in an undertaker and ordered his coffin going into detail as to the trimmings.

The Young Men's Christian Temperance Union, will hold a lawn tea next Friday evening July 8th, on the lawn between the Sperry residence, on North Main street. The proceeds will be used in the work of the local association.

Miss Mary O'Connor residing one-half mile north of town on Mansfield avenue, died from quick consumption Saturday morning, after a long illness. She was buried at Loree cemetery, Rev. J. H. Hamilton officiating. Deceased is spoken of as an estimable Christian lady, and her worthy husband has the sympathy of the community. She leaves a fifteen month old child, which makes the death of the mother more sad.

H. M. S. Pinafore Come and Gone.

The Pinafore, sailed into this port Monday night and came to anchor on the stage of Woodward Avenue. Her appearance was under the auspices of Joe Hooker Post, G. A. R., and she was manned by a picked crew of Mr. Vernon's volunteers.

The company who produced the opera are certainly to be complimented for the smooth manner in which it ran along, no hitch of any kind occurring. They are also to be congratulated on appearing before the largest audience that ever filled the Opera House—standing room being at a premium. The stage setting was perfect, the back ground representing a marine view with a large ship at anchor a few miles from a light-house. The work being executed by a Chicago artist, especially for the occasion.

Miss Desseville played the piano accompaniment in the pastime and was ably assisted by Prof. Rinehart. The soloists were Miss Jennings as "Josephine," and Miss Betty Adams as "Dear Little Buttercup."

Miss Jennings as "Josephine," and Miss Betty Adams as "Dear Little Buttercup," were the largest audience that ever filled the Opera House—standing room being at a premium. The stage setting was perfect, the back ground representing a marine view with a large ship at anchor a few miles from a light-house. The work being executed by a Chicago artist, especially for the occasion.

Miss Jennings as "Josephine," and Miss Betty Adams as "Dear Little Buttercup," were the largest audience that ever filled the Opera House—standing room being at a premium. The stage setting was perfect, the back ground representing a marine view with a large ship at anchor a few miles from a light-house. The work being executed by a Chicago artist, especially for the occasion.

Miss Jennings as "Josephine," and Miss Betty Adams as "Dear Little Buttercup," were the largest audience that ever filled the Opera House—standing room being at a premium. The stage setting was perfect, the back ground representing a marine view with a large ship at anchor a few miles from a light-house. The work being executed by a Chicago artist, especially for the occasion.

Miss Jennings as "Josephine," and Miss Betty Adams as "Dear Little Buttercup," were the largest audience that ever filled the Opera House—standing room being at a premium. The stage setting was perfect, the back ground representing a marine view with a large ship at anchor a few miles from a light-house. The work being executed by a Chicago artist, especially for the occasion.

Miss Jennings as "Josephine," and Miss Betty Adams as "Dear Little Buttercup," were the largest audience that ever filled the Opera House—standing room being at a premium. The stage setting was perfect, the back ground representing a marine view with a large ship at anchor a few miles from a light-house. The work being executed by a Chicago artist, especially for the occasion.

Miss Jennings as "Josephine," and Miss Betty Adams as "Dear Little Buttercup," were the largest audience that ever filled the Opera House—standing room being at a premium. The stage setting was perfect, the back ground representing a marine view with a large ship at anchor a few miles from a light-house. The work being executed by a Chicago artist, especially for the occasion.

Miss Jennings as "Josephine," and Miss Betty Adams as "Dear Little Buttercup," were the largest audience that ever filled the Opera House—standing room being at a premium. The stage setting was perfect, the back ground representing a marine view with a large ship at anchor a few miles from a light-house. The work being executed by a Chicago artist, especially for the occasion.

Miss Jennings as "Josephine," and Miss Betty Adams as "Dear Little Buttercup," were the largest audience that ever filled the Opera House—standing room being at a premium. The stage setting was perfect, the back ground representing a marine view with a large ship at anchor a few miles from a light-house. The work being executed by a Chicago artist, especially for the occasion.

Miss Jennings as "Josephine," and Miss Betty Adams as "Dear Little Buttercup," were the largest audience that ever filled the Opera House—standing room being at a premium. The stage setting was perfect, the back ground representing a marine view with a large ship at anchor a few miles from a light-house. The work being executed by a Chicago artist, especially for the occasion.

Miss Jennings as "Josephine," and Miss Betty Adams as "Dear Little Buttercup," were the largest audience that ever filled the Opera House—standing room being at a premium. The stage setting was perfect, the back ground representing a marine view with a large ship at anchor a few miles from a light-house. The work being executed by a Chicago artist, especially for the occasion.

Miss Jennings as "Josephine," and Miss Betty Adams as "Dear Little Buttercup," were the largest audience that ever filled the Opera House—standing room being at a premium. The stage setting was perfect, the back ground representing a marine view with a large ship at anchor a few miles from a light-house. The work being executed by a Chicago artist, especially for the occasion.

Miss Jennings as "Josephine," and Miss Betty Adams as "Dear Little Buttercup," were the largest audience that ever filled the Opera House—standing room being at a premium. The stage setting was perfect, the back ground representing a marine view with a large ship at anchor a few miles from a light-house. The work being executed by a Chicago artist, especially for the occasion.

Miss Jennings as "Josephine," and Miss Betty Adams as "Dear Little Buttercup," were the largest audience that ever filled the Opera House—standing room being at a premium. The stage setting was perfect, the back ground representing a marine view with a large ship at anchor a few miles from a light-house. The work being executed by a Chicago artist, especially for the occasion.

Miss Jennings as "Josephine," and Miss Betty Adams as "Dear Little Buttercup," were the largest audience that ever filled the Opera House—standing room being at a premium. The stage setting was perfect, the back ground representing a marine view with a large ship at anchor a few miles from a light-house. The work being executed by a Chicago artist, especially for the occasion.

Miss Jennings as "Josephine," and Miss Betty Adams as "Dear Little Buttercup," were the largest audience that ever filled the Opera House—standing room being at a premium. The stage setting was perfect, the back ground representing a marine view with a large ship at anchor a few miles from a light-house. The work being executed by a Chicago artist, especially for the occasion.

Miss Jennings as "Josephine," and Miss Betty Adams as "Dear Little Buttercup," were the largest audience that ever filled the Opera House—standing room being at a premium. The stage setting was perfect, the back ground representing a marine view with a large ship at anchor a few miles from a light-house. The work being executed by a Chicago artist, especially for the occasion.

Miss Jennings as "Josephine," and Miss Betty Adams as "Dear Little Buttercup," were the largest audience that ever filled the Opera House—standing room being at a premium. The stage setting was perfect, the back ground representing a marine view with a large ship at anchor a few miles from a light-house. The work being executed by a Chicago artist, especially for the occasion.

Miss Jennings as "Josephine," and Miss Betty Adams as "Dear Little Buttercup," were the largest audience that ever filled the Opera House—standing room being at a premium. The stage setting was perfect, the back ground representing a marine view with a large ship at anchor a few miles from a light-house. The work being executed by a Chicago artist, especially for the occasion.

Miss Jennings as "Josephine," and Miss Betty Adams as "Dear Little Buttercup," were the largest audience that ever filled the Opera House—standing room being at a premium. The stage setting was perfect, the back ground representing a marine view with a large ship at anchor a few miles from a light-house. The work being executed by a Chicago artist, especially for the occasion.

Miss Jennings as "Josephine," and Miss Betty Adams as "Dear Little Buttercup," were the largest audience that ever filled the Opera House—standing room being at a premium. The stage setting was perfect, the back ground representing a marine view with a large ship at anchor a few miles from a light-house. The work being executed by a Chicago artist, especially for the occasion.

Miss Jennings as "Josephine," and Miss Betty Adams as "Dear Little Buttercup," were the largest audience that ever filled the Opera House—standing room being at a premium. The stage setting was perfect, the back ground representing a marine view with a large ship at anchor a few miles from a light-house. The work being executed by a Chicago artist, especially for the occasion.

Miss Jennings as "Josephine," and Miss Betty Adams as "Dear Little Buttercup," were the largest audience that ever filled the Opera House—standing room being at a premium. The stage setting was perfect, the back ground representing a marine view with a large ship at anchor a few miles from a light-house. The work being executed by a Chicago artist, especially for the occasion.

Miss Jennings as "Josephine," and Miss Betty Adams as "Dear Little Buttercup," were the largest audience that ever filled the Opera House—standing room being at a premium. The stage setting was perfect, the back ground representing a marine view with a large ship at anchor a few miles from a light-house. The work being executed by a Chicago artist, especially for the occasion.

Miss Jennings as "Josephine," and Miss Betty Adams as "Dear Little Buttercup," were the largest audience that ever filled the Opera House—standing room being at a premium. The stage setting was perfect, the back ground representing a marine view with a large ship at anchor a few miles from a light-house. The work being executed by a Chicago artist, especially for the occasion.

Miss Jennings as "Josephine," and Miss Betty Adams as "Dear Little Buttercup," were the largest audience that ever filled the Opera House—standing room being at a premium. The stage setting was perfect, the back ground representing a marine view with a large ship at anchor a few miles from a light-house. The work being executed by a Chicago artist, especially for the occasion.

Miss Jennings as "Josephine," and Miss Betty Adams as "Dear Little Buttercup," were the largest audience that ever filled the Opera House—standing room being at a premium. The stage setting was perfect, the back ground representing a marine view with a large ship at anchor a few miles from a light-house. The work being executed by a Chicago artist, especially for the occasion.

Miss Jennings as "Josephine," and Miss Betty Adams as "Dear Little Buttercup," were the largest audience that ever filled the Opera House—standing room being at a premium. The stage setting was perfect, the back ground representing a marine view with a large ship at anchor a few miles from a light-house. The work being executed by a Chicago artist, especially for the occasion.

Miss Jennings as "Josephine," and Miss Betty Adams as "Dear Little Buttercup," were the largest audience that ever filled the Opera House—standing room being at a premium. The stage setting was perfect, the back ground representing a marine view with a large ship at anchor a few miles from a light-house. The work being executed by a Chicago artist, especially for the occasion.

Miss Jennings as "Josephine," and Miss Betty Adams as "Dear Little Buttercup," were the largest audience that ever filled the Opera House—standing room being at a premium. The stage setting was perfect, the back ground representing a marine view with a large ship at anchor a few miles from a light-house. The work being executed by a Chicago artist, especially for the occasion.

Miss Jennings as "Josephine," and Miss Betty Adams as "Dear Little Buttercup," were the largest audience that ever filled the Opera House—standing room being at a premium. The stage setting was perfect, the back ground representing a marine view with a large ship at anchor a few miles from a light-house. The work being executed by a Chicago artist, especially for the occasion.

Miss Jennings as "Josephine," and Miss Betty Adams as "Dear Little Buttercup," were the largest audience that ever filled the Opera House—standing room being at a premium. The stage setting was perfect, the back ground representing a marine view with a large ship at anchor a few miles from a light-house. The work being executed by a Chicago artist, especially for the occasion.

Miss Jennings as "Josephine," and Miss Betty Adams as "Dear Little Buttercup," were the largest audience that ever filled the Opera House—standing room being at a premium. The stage setting was perfect, the back ground representing a marine view with a large ship at anchor a few miles from a light-house. The work being executed by a Chicago artist, especially for the occasion.

Miss Jennings as "Josephine," and Miss Betty Adams as "Dear Little Buttercup," were the largest audience that ever filled the Opera House—standing room being at a premium. The stage setting was perfect, the back ground representing a marine view with a large ship at anchor a few miles from a light-house. The work being executed by a Chicago artist, especially for the occasion.

Miss Jennings as "Josephine," and Miss Betty Adams as "Dear Little Buttercup," were the largest audience that ever filled the Opera House—standing room being at a premium. The stage setting was perfect, the back ground representing a marine view with a large ship at anchor a few miles from a light-house. The work being executed by a Chicago artist, especially for the occasion.

Miss Jennings as "Josephine," and Miss Betty Adams as "Dear Little Buttercup," were the largest audience that ever filled the Opera House—standing room being at a premium. The stage setting was perfect, the back ground representing a marine view with a large ship at anchor a few miles from a light-house. The work being executed by a Chicago artist, especially for the occasion.

Miss Jennings as "Josephine," and Miss Betty Adams as "Dear Little Buttercup," were the largest audience that ever filled the Opera House—standing room being at a premium. The stage setting was perfect, the back ground representing a marine view with a large ship at anchor a few miles from a light-house. The work being executed by a Chicago artist, especially for the occasion.

Miss Jennings as "Josephine," and Miss Betty Adams as "Dear Little Buttercup," were the largest audience that ever filled the Opera House—standing room being at a premium. The stage setting was perfect, the back ground representing a marine view with a large ship at anchor a few miles from a light-house. The work being executed by a Chicago artist, especially for the occasion.

Miss Jennings as "Josephine," and Miss Betty Adams as "Dear Little Buttercup," were the largest audience that ever filled the Opera House—standing room being at a premium. The stage setting was perfect, the back ground representing a marine view with a large ship at anchor a few miles from a light-house. The work being executed by a Chicago artist, especially for the occasion.

Miss Jennings as "Josephine," and Miss Betty Adams as "Dear Little Buttercup," were the largest audience that ever filled the Opera House—standing room being at a premium. The stage setting was perfect, the back ground representing a marine view with a large ship at anchor a few miles from a light-house. The work being executed by a Chicago artist, especially for the occasion.

Miss Jennings as "Josephine," and Miss Betty Adams as "Dear Little Buttercup," were the largest audience that ever filled the Opera House—standing room being at a premium. The stage setting was perfect, the back ground representing a marine view with a large ship at anchor a few miles from a light-house. The work being executed by a Chicago artist, especially for the occasion.

Miss Jennings as "Josephine," and Miss Betty Adams as "Dear Little Buttercup," were the largest audience that ever filled the Opera House—standing room being at a premium. The stage setting was perfect, the back ground representing a marine view with a large ship at anchor a few miles from a light-house. The work being executed by a Chicago artist, especially for the occasion.

Miss Jennings as "Josephine," and Miss Betty Adams as "Dear Little Buttercup," were the largest audience that ever filled the Opera House—standing room being at a premium. The stage setting was perfect, the back ground representing a marine view with a large ship at anchor a few miles from a light-house. The work being executed by a Chicago artist, especially for the occasion.

Miss Jennings as "Josephine," and Miss Betty Adams as "Dear Little Buttercup," were the largest audience that ever filled the Opera House—standing room being at a premium. The stage setting was perfect, the back ground representing a marine view with a large ship at anchor a few miles from a light-house. The work being executed by a Chicago artist, especially for the occasion.

Miss Jennings as "Josephine," and Miss Betty Adams as "Dear Little Buttercup," were the largest audience that ever filled the Opera House—standing room being at a premium. The stage setting was perfect, the back ground representing a marine view with a large ship at anchor a few miles from a light-house. The work being executed by a Chicago artist, especially for the occasion.

Miss Jennings as "Josephine," and Miss Betty Adams as "Dear Little Buttercup," were the largest audience that ever filled the Opera House—standing room being at a premium. The stage setting was perfect, the back ground representing a marine view with a large ship at anchor a few miles from a light-house. The work being executed by a Chicago artist, especially for the occasion.

THE 4TH AT MT. VERNON.

The Imposted Speaker Turns the Soldiers' Reminade into a Political Gathering.

Taken account of by an uneventful Fourth. No accidents of consequence occurred throughout the day and the little crowd of spectators were dispersed by reports by the police.

But there was no lack of enthusiasm when it came to turning gun-powder, and some of the patriots even in the exuberance of their spirits, opened the ball shortly after 12 o'clock Sunday night, and from that hour until daylight the "canonading" of pocket artillery, old muskets and huge fire-crackers, in several parts of the city, went up incessantly, greatly to the annoyance of weak-nerved people and making slumber absolutely impossible. Young America did himself proud throughout the day and not for a single moment until long after midnight was there a cessation of the fusillade.

The early trains on the C. & A. C. and B. & O. unloaded many excursionists at this point, and the good people from the rural districts poured in until the streets of Mount Vernon were almost impassable. Many brought well-laden barrels of provisions and repaired to the Camp-meeting grounds, where they made up picnic parties.

About 1 o'clock the Vance Cadets made their appearance on the Square and under command of Capt. Murphy, went through some very pretty movements which won applause. The City Band, in gay uniforms and gorgeously attired drum major came into view and attracted the attention of the admiring crowd. After playing some of their choicest selections, they escorted the Cadets down Main street, where they were joined by about one hundred old veterans and returned up Main street, through the Public Square, and out High street, on the line of march to the camp-meeting grounds.

This was signal for the crowd to follow, and the parade of the day was in progress. The balance of the morning was spent in listening to the strains of the band, watching the manoeuvres of the military and in mingling to and fro among the throngs of people.

At 2 o'clock, as the regular exercises of the day commenced, and to say that they were a disappointment and produced bad feeling is drawing it very mildly. The principal sport of the day was imparted for the occasion, and was none the less a personage than Hon. Charles Huckerley Grosvenor. It was naturally expected that when an audience was made up of men of the calibre of the present, that they would be entirely ignored, but the fiery, untamed Huckerley statesman, did not possess the horse sense or common decency to appreciate the occasion and he launched forth into a regular blood-shedder's tirade, which was greeted with a roar of applause. The stand, but completely disgusted every decent man in the audience, until many left to get beyond the reach of his voice, and not one-third of the hearers remained to see the close of the performance.

The advance notes of the event published in the BANNER were most certainly given, under the assurance and with the understanding that a patriotic, non-partisan concern was to be conducted on the occasion.

On the evening of Monday, the 4th, of July, Sheriff Stevenson and Coroner Bunn received separate telegrams from J. R. Lybarger, of Buckeye City, that William Burris, a Republican, had been killed by a bullet fired from the gun of a rebel.

Mr. Burris was a well-known citizen, and in response to an inquiry as to his condition said he felt pretty tough. He asked for and received a small portion of stimulating medicine prescribed by the jail physician. His father, who was a doctor, and in response to an inquiry as to his condition said he felt pretty tough. He asked for and received a small portion of stimulating medicine prescribed by the jail physician.

He asked for and received a small portion of stimulating medicine prescribed by the jail physician. His father, who was a doctor, and in response to an inquiry as to his condition said he felt pretty tough. He asked for and received a small portion of stimulating medicine prescribed by the jail physician.

He asked for and received a small portion of stimulating medicine prescribed by the jail physician. His father, who was a doctor, and in response to an inquiry as to his condition said he felt pretty tough. He asked for and received a small portion of stimulating medicine prescribed by the jail physician.

He asked for and received a small portion of stimulating medicine prescribed by the jail physician. His father, who was a doctor, and in response to an inquiry as to his condition said he felt pretty tough. He asked for and received a small portion of stimulating medicine prescribed by the jail physician.

He asked for and received a small portion of stimulating medicine prescribed by the jail physician. His father, who was a doctor, and in response to an inquiry as to his condition said he felt pretty tough. He asked for and received a small portion of stimulating medicine prescribed by the jail physician.

He asked for and received a small portion of stimulating medicine prescribed by the jail physician. His father, who was a doctor, and in response to an inquiry as to his condition said he felt pretty tough. He asked for and received a small portion of stimulating medicine prescribed by the jail physician.

He asked for and received a small portion of stimulating medicine prescribed by the jail physician. His father, who was a doctor, and in response to an inquiry as to his condition said he felt pretty tough. He asked for and received a small portion of stimulating medicine prescribed by the jail physician.

He asked for and received a small portion of stimulating medicine prescribed by the jail physician. His father, who was a doctor, and in response to an inquiry as to his condition said he felt pretty tough. He asked for and received a small portion of stimulating medicine prescribed by the jail physician.

He asked for and received a small portion of stimulating medicine prescribed by the jail physician. His father, who was a doctor, and in response to an inquiry as to his condition said he felt pretty tough. He asked for and received a small portion of stimulating medicine prescribed by the jail physician.

He asked for and received a small portion of stimulating medicine prescribed by the jail physician. His father, who was a doctor, and in response to an inquiry as to his condition said he felt pretty tough. He asked for and received a small portion of stimulating medicine prescribed by the jail physician.

He asked for and received a small portion of stimulating medicine prescribed by the jail physician. His father, who was a doctor, and in response to an inquiry as to his condition said he felt pretty tough. He asked for and received a small portion of stimulating medicine prescribed by the jail physician.

He asked for and received a small portion of stimulating medicine prescribed by the jail physician. His father, who was a doctor, and in response to an inquiry as to his condition said he felt pretty tough. He asked for and received a small portion of stimulating medicine prescribed by the jail physician.

He asked for and received a small portion of stimulating medicine prescribed by the jail physician. His father, who was a doctor, and in response to an inquiry as to his condition said he felt pretty tough. He asked for and received a small portion of stimulating medicine prescribed by the jail physician.

He asked for and received a small portion of stimulating medicine prescribed by the jail physician. His father, who was a doctor, and in response to an inquiry as to his condition said he felt pretty tough. He asked for and received a small portion of stimulating medicine prescribed by the jail physician.

He asked for and received a small portion of stimulating medicine prescribed by the jail physician. His father, who was a doctor, and in response to an inquiry as to his condition said he felt pretty tough. He asked for and received a small portion of stimulating medicine prescribed by the jail physician.

He asked for and received a small portion of stimulating medicine prescribed by the jail physician. His father, who was a doctor, and in response to an inquiry as to his condition said he felt pretty tough. He asked for and received a small portion of stimulating medicine prescribed by the jail physician.

He asked for and received a small portion of stimulating medicine prescribed by the jail physician. His father, who was a doctor, and in response to an inquiry as to his condition said he felt pretty tough. He asked for and received a small portion of stimulating medicine prescribed by the jail physician.

He asked for and received a small portion of stimulating medicine prescribed by the jail physician. His father, who was a doctor, and in response to an inquiry as to his condition said he felt pretty tough. He asked for and received a small portion of stimulating medicine prescribed by the jail physician.

He asked for and received a small portion of stimulating medicine prescribed by the jail physician. His father, who was a doctor, and in response to an inquiry as to his condition said he felt pretty tough. He asked for and received a small portion of stimulating medicine prescribed by the jail physician.

He asked for and received a small portion of stimulating medicine prescribed by the jail physician. His father, who was a doctor, and in response to an inquiry as to his condition said he felt pretty tough. He asked for and received a small portion of stimulating medicine prescribed by the jail physician.

He asked for and received a small portion of stimulating medicine prescribed by the jail physician. His father, who was a doctor, and in response to an inquiry as to his condition said he felt pretty tough. He asked for and received a small portion of stimulating medicine prescribed by the jail physician.

He asked for and received a small portion of stimulating medicine prescribed by the jail physician. His father, who was a doctor, and in response to an inquiry as to his condition said he felt pretty tough. He asked for and received a small portion of stimulating medicine prescribed by the jail physician.

He asked for and received a small portion of stimulating medicine prescribed by the jail physician. His father, who was a doctor, and in response to an inquiry as to his condition said he felt pretty tough. He asked for and received a small portion of stimulating medicine prescribed by the jail physician.

He asked for and received a small portion of stimulating medicine prescribed by the jail physician. His father, who was a doctor, and in response to an inquiry as to his condition said he felt pretty tough. He asked for and received a small portion of stimulating medicine prescribed by the jail physician.

He asked for and received a small portion of stimulating medicine prescribed by the jail physician. His father, who was a doctor, and in response to an inquiry as to his condition said he felt pretty tough. He asked for and received a small portion of stimulating medicine prescribed by the jail physician.

He asked for and received a small portion of stimulating medicine prescribed by the jail physician. His father, who was a doctor, and in response to an inquiry as to his condition said he felt pretty tough. He asked for and received a small portion of stimulating medicine prescribed by the jail physician.

He asked for and received a small portion of stimulating medicine prescribed by the jail physician. His father, who was a doctor, and in response to an inquiry as to his condition said he felt pretty tough. He asked for and received a small portion of stimulating medicine prescribed by the jail physician.

He asked for and received a small portion of stimulating medicine prescribed by the jail physician. His father, who was a doctor, and in response to an inquiry as to his condition said he felt pretty tough. He asked for and received a small portion of stimulating medicine prescribed by the jail physician.

He asked for and received a small portion of stimulating medicine prescribed by the jail physician. His father, who was a doctor, and in response to an inquiry as to his condition said he felt pretty tough. He asked for and received a small portion of stimulating medicine prescribed by the jail physician.

He asked for and received a small portion of stimulating medicine prescribed by the jail physician. His father, who was a doctor, and in response to an inquiry as to his condition said he felt pretty tough. He asked for and received a small portion of stimulating medicine prescribed by the jail physician.

He asked for and received a small portion of stimulating medicine prescribed by the jail physician. His father, who was a doctor, and in response to an inquiry as to his condition said he felt pretty tough. He asked for and received a small portion of stimulating medicine prescribed by the jail physician.

He asked for and received a small portion of stimulating medicine prescribed by the jail physician. His father, who was a doctor, and in response to an inquiry as to his condition said he felt pretty tough. He asked for and received a small portion of stimulating medicine prescribed by the jail physician.

He asked for and received a small portion of stimulating medicine prescribed by the jail physician. His father, who was a doctor, and in response to an inquiry as to his condition said he felt pretty tough. He asked for and received a small portion of stimulating medicine prescribed by the jail physician.

He asked for and received a small portion of stimulating medicine prescribed by the jail physician. His father, who was a doctor, and in response to an inquiry as to his condition said he felt pretty tough. He asked for and received a small portion of stimulating medicine prescribed by the jail physician.

He asked for and received a small portion of stimulating medicine prescribed by the jail physician. His father, who was a doctor, and in response to an inquiry as to his condition said he felt pretty tough. He asked for and received a small portion of stimulating medicine prescribed by the jail physician.

He asked for and received a small portion of stimulating medicine prescribed by the jail physician. His father, who was a doctor, and in response to an inquiry as to his condition said he felt pretty tough. He asked for and received a small portion of stimulating medicine prescribed by the jail physician.

He asked for and received a small portion of stimulating medicine prescribed by the jail physician. His father, who was a doctor, and in response to an inquiry as to his condition said he felt pretty tough. He asked for and received a small portion of stimulating medicine prescribed by the jail physician.

He asked for and received a small portion of stimulating medicine prescribed by the jail physician. His father, who was a doctor, and in response to an inquiry as to his condition said he felt pretty tough. He asked for and received a small portion of stimulating medicine prescribed by the jail physician.

He asked for and received a small portion of stimulating medicine prescribed by the jail physician. His father, who was a doctor, and in response to an inquiry as to his condition said he felt pretty tough. He asked for and received a small portion of stimulating medicine prescribed by the jail physician.

He asked for and received a small portion of stimulating medicine prescribed by the jail physician. His father, who was a doctor, and in response to an inquiry as to his condition said he felt pretty tough. He asked for and received a small portion of stimulating medicine prescribed by the jail physician.

He asked for and received a small portion of stimulating medicine prescribed by the jail physician. His father, who was a doctor, and in response to an inquiry as to his condition said he felt pretty tough. He asked for and received a small portion of stimulating medicine prescribed by the jail physician.

He asked for and received a small portion of stimulating medicine prescribed by the jail physician. His father, who was a doctor, and in response to an inquiry as to his condition said he felt pretty tough. He asked for and received a small portion of stimulating medicine prescribed by the jail physician.

He asked for and received a small portion of stimulating medicine prescribed by the jail physician. His father, who was a doctor, and in response to an inquiry as to his condition said he felt pretty tough. He asked for and received a small portion of stimulating medicine prescribed by the jail physician.

He asked for and received a small portion of stimulating medicine prescribed by the jail physician. His father, who was a doctor, and in response to an inquiry as to his condition said he felt pretty tough. He asked for and received a small portion of stimulating medicine prescribed by the jail

DEPARTMENT

The finest line of Millinery Goods, the latest Style in Hats and Bonnets are in the Eastern markets. Elegant Wigs, Lamene Stock of Children's opposite Kremlin Block.

INSON'S

ALL that is on all that is beneath it
ERATE PRICES are ALL Profits are are is acceptable, and w

approval through LOW
Department of our wel
ry Goods and Notions
NEY if you buy of us
what you read here, bu
be convinced.

G & SPERRY

—: BARGAINS

—AT—

DAID'S

OTHING STORE

BOYS' AND CHILDREN'S CLOTHING.
Unprecedented SPRING inspection and not approached hitherto. Also a full line of Gents' Furnishings, Valsies, Underwear, Neckties, Gloves, Suspenders, Collars, etc.
THE FIRST CHOICE OF NEW GOODS.
TRADE this Spring for all that are in view have marked the season.
SELL ON SIGHT!
Come to call at our store BEFORE it is too late. We will satisfy you that our assortment is the best, our prices the lowest in the county.
LOCATION.
THE CLOTHING STORE.
Main Street, between Gambier and Mt. Vernon, Ohio.

UNDERWEAR.

Caps,
Valises,
Furnishing Goods.

TE LINE IN THE CITY.

BE CONVINCED.

YOUNG,
Mt. Vernon, Ohio.

WEAR.

10 DAYS
 WILL OFFER
BARGAINS
 IN—
AND SLIPPERS
 FOR OUR Immense Stock
 Depressed Market.
 Everybody. Come and see.
LL'S One-Price Store